International Finance Brought Close To Verge of Apoplexy — Failure To Meet Demands Means End Capitalistic System

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—The national policy of the Conservative party, brought up to date, was offered today by W. D. Herridge, former Canadian minister to Washington, as the basis for a new reform movement to save Canada from fascism and give the people greater economic security.

Although sounding the keynote of the new Conservative party platform, Mr. Herridge at times seemed to be speaking of the economic situation in Canada as it is today.

"Canada is out of step with progress. We cling to a system which might be our last. Unless reform controls the acts of government, reaction will be the result of the sentence about a table with machine gun on the side."

Later he spoke even more Social Credit language. "In this age of plenty the lowest Canadian is entitled to be well fed. He is entitled to be well clothed. He is entitled to be well housed. He is entitled to be well educated. He is entitled to be well paid."

"The way of reform is a hazardous one. It is a road which is full of perils. It is a road which is full of dangers. It is a road which is full of difficulties. It is a road which is full of hardships. It is a road which is full of sacrifices. It is a road which is full of blood."

Request by the Taxpayers' Protective Association that red property be taxed only for services received, and that the city seek to cut the tax rate to 30 mills, as compared to 54 in 1932, was placed before city council Monday night. Aldermen made no decision on this submission, requesting the association to supply them with a written brief for consideration at a later date.

W. D. HERRIDGE, who declared the Tory party can regain leadership by defeating the present government in the next election, was the speaker at the meeting.

"The national policy stands for the distribution upon the level of optimum production, and stand consequently for whatever increase in purchasing power is needed for that purpose."

All Canuck Males, 18-60 Are Subject To Call Of Defence To Council

By THOMAS WATLING
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—The Defence of Canada having been much under public discussion, authorities here have been checking up on the actual liabilities of Canadian citizens with respect to defence. It has been ascertained that under the Militia Act "all the male inhabitants of Canada of 18 years of age and upwards, and under 60 not exempt or disqualified by law, and being British subjects, are liable to service in the militia."

In addition the Governor-General may require all the male inhabitants of Canada capable of bearing arms to serve in the case of a levee en masse. Provision is also made for the raising of corps by voluntary enlistment. This is the procedure at present followed.

The Act also provides that when men are required to organize or complete a corps at any time either for training or in an emergency, and enough men do not volunteer to complete the corps, the Governor-General may call up the men liable to serve as may be drafted by ballot.

Only in emergency may the male population be called out for active service, and being recruited in peace time, inactivation, riot or insurrection. The Governor-General may call up the men liable to serve as may be drafted by ballot.

ADDITIONAL IS PLANNED FOR MENTAL HOME

Building At Oliver To Cost $100,000—New School Building

Construction of an addition to the Oliver mental hospital, costing $100,000, will be carried out during the current year, while an addition to the Red Deer training school for children, involving a cost of $50,000, will be erected.

Mr. D. W. C. Wilson, Minister of Health and in charge of relief, stated on Tuesday, estimates for the construction of these two buildings will be placed before the legislature at the session opening on February 1.

Increase in the number of mental cases has necessitated the addition to the Oliver institution, while the greater number of patients requiring treatment at the Red Deer institution has made it necessary for increased accommodation.

Last year an addition to the Oliver hospital, a building costing $200,000, and Dr. C. W. Wilson, Minister of Health, stated on Tuesday, estimates for the construction of these two buildings will be placed before the legislature at the session opening on February 1.

French Industry Will Be Established In Alberta

COSTLY PELTS OF CHINCHILLAS TO BE RAISED

First Enterprise of Kind In Canada To Be Started At Cardston

CARDSTON, Jan. 23.—Alberta is to have a new industry, a chinchilla fur farm, the first of its kind in Canada.

Four pairs of the little French grey colored animals, native of the Andes in South America, will be brought to Southern Alberta in the spring, the nucleus of a fur farm to be operated in the foothills west of Cardston, Alta.

Fourteen chinchilla farms are operated in the United States and the breeding stock for the Alberta venture will be purchased from the world's largest chinchilla ranch at Newland, California, where there are some 1,400 of the rare animals today.

HEADS SYNDICATE
Mrs. Irene Williams of Cardston, heads a syndicate which hopes to raise the rarest and most costly of sea-bearing animals. She will travel to California to purchase the breeding stock and study the habits of the little animals.

Breeding stock sells for $7,500 a pair. Chinchilla jackets and coats on the retail market are selling from $60.00 to $150.00.

Chinchilla pelts measure about 10 inches across and 12 inches long. They are easy to locate, darkly mottled on the surface and shading beneath with light cream. There are about three-quarters of an inch of hair, grown for its softness and color.

WILL ACCLIMATE
Belgium-bred animals, the chinchilla will quickly acclimate themselves to Alberta.

They are easy to locate after," she said. "They live on vegetables, grain and grasses, and it takes about $2 a year to feed them. They produce two litters a year, of from four to six babies."

NEW MOVEMENT PLANS ABOLITION OF PARLIAMENT

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—Decentralization of government in Canada, with abolition of parliament and development of the provinces as true autonomous states, was the theme advanced by the national-conservative movement in a brief prepared for submission today to the House of Commons.

To replace parliament, the brief suggested the nine provincial premiers or their delegates, with one delegate meeting in different parts of the Dominion and enjoying "some" of the greater powers than the Dominion premier now have at Imperial conferences.

The federal government would be deprived of all taxing and borrowing powers but would be sustained by per capita grants from the provinces which would receive all revenues from customs, excise, licenses and other taxes under the scheme.

"Our proposals may appear revolutionary to people who never studied the constitutional history of Canada or forget that Canada is a confederation of autonomous states and is not an amalgamation of fiefdoms," the brief stated.

Dubuc, chancellor of the organization, said in the brief.

Prints on the Sands of Time

It's plain to see, if you'll look about the strand at Palm Beach, Fla., as did The Bulletin cameraman, that the woman who ventures into the water in Canada, will find a printed swim suit is sadly out of style.

Lolling on the sands is Harry Cody, Jr., of Ripon, Wis., in a one-piece suit across which colorful tropical fish skitter alluringly. Finding hands from Winnipeg's winter water is Mrs. William A. ## SEADLUND IN BAD MOOD AS CHARGE REPEALS

Confessed Kidnap-Killer of Charles Ross Kicks Cameraman

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—John Henry Seadlund—kicking, snarling and tagging at his cameraman—was held yesterday half Monday for the kidnapping of Charles Ross.

The unsmiling, branded "most cold-blooded killer" ever encountered by federal agents, stood mute and defiant while a place of his cell in the federal bureau of investigation quarters in a Loop skyscraper was vacated.

He stared the resulting degradation to furnishings, musical instruments—particularly pianos—into foodstuffs.

This damage, he declared, continued during the season when cinders were on the streets, and he was in the wet spring weather it was a "black mess" in the end.

"As a result of the use of cinders on city streets motorists are experiencing big losses in stock, and some are scattering seed on the street floors to minimize the damage," Mr. Grey informed.

"What about merchants paying an increase of three to five per cent in business tax to cover the extra cost of using sand?" questioned Mr. Grey.

The delegate thought merchants might be "sports enough" to pay the difference.

EXTRA COST
Commissioner R. J. Gibb reported use of sand exclusively on all sidewalks in the city would increase the annual bill for the sand to $1,000,000.

He also was asked to report on the use of sand on streets and sidewalks.

"We are asked to spend money elevating the dust nuisance, and yet we are asked to spend money on the use of sand," Mr. Gibb declared.

"We should give citizens, property holders and taxpayers the benefit to be derived from the use of sand," Mr. Gibb declared.

Ald. Douglas Grant commended a recent editorial in The Bulletin which suggested that the fire department be required to hose the streets during the spring in order to wash away cinders and dust.

BOMBING PLOT

PARINER SAYS HE IS FORCED

George Paringer States He Was "Put On Spot" To Join Foray

SEATTLE, Wash. Jan. 23.—George Paringer, admitted associate of a Canadian school-teacher, who was the mastermind of the attempted bombing of the Japanese embassy in Washington, D.C., last Friday, was quoted Monday by an immigration official as saying he was "put on the spot" by three while men in Vancouver when he was believed to withdraw from the plot.

J. E. Boyd, United States immigration official, quoted Paringer as telling him:

"When I left my room in Vancouver, B.C., and started to walk away in order to avoid meeting (George) Paringer at the plot, three men approached me. One held a revolver and said 'You're going with Forthright' and get your suitcase or it will be left behind."

Paringer said this occurred the day he and Forthright left Vancouver for Tacoma in order to bomb the Japanese embassy there. When the Tacoma effort failed they proceeded to Seattle, where Forthright died while bombing the Japanese embassy through the icy waters toward the Viceroy Hotel.

Merchants Make Representations To Council Meet

Bylaw covering closing hours for stores will be reviewed by city council's bylaws committee owing to a difference of opinion among merchants over these regulations, aldermen decided at a meeting Monday night. One retailer asked for strict enforcement of 6 p.m. closing; another appealed for amendment to the bylaw which would permit small grocery men to make legal sales after 6 p.m. in order to eke out a living.

George Hazlett, a merchant, declared existing regulations were satisfactory to the majority of busi-measmen providing they were observed. Certain exempted articles could be sold after 5 p.m., he said.

Differing with this delegate, J. R. Manning, grocerman in the northeast section of the city, stated some grocers found it necessary to remain open in the evenings "in order to make a living for their families and pay utility bills and taxes. He showed the fact that 8 per cent of merchandise sold at a profit, after articles which the law permitted to be sold after the closing hour for grocery stores—such as confectioneries, bread and milk.

But the other three per cent, the delegate said, must include groceries on the banned list. He appealed to council to amend the bylaw to give merchants the right to sell groceries during the evening.

CITY SHOULD HELP

"It should be left to the merchant to decide whether or not he will remain open for business after 6

Olyver said, stating: "I urged. We can find ourselves in the position where we must either prohibit a customer who wants to purchase an article during the evening hours from the law. The city council should help the small man to remain in business," he said, suggesting that merchants discuss this question with the bylaws committee.

ACCUSED BADLY BEATEN UP IN FIGHT, CLAIM

Scoble Battered About the Head Witness Testifies at Court Hearing

Evidence that accused had been badly beaten up in his fight with Arthur P. Rogers, Canadian National railway locomotive engineer, was given by three witnesses at the preliminary hearing of the trial of Stanley Scoble, Calgary resident, who appeared Monday before Mr. Justice T. H. Tweddle and a jury on a charge of attempting to murder Rogers.

It is alleged by the crown that following a fight at the Colours roundhouse on the night of Nov. 6, accused produced a gun and fired at Rogers through the window of the company bunkhouse, the shot passing close to the complainant's head.

Mrs. Emma Pearl, defense witness, testified that she saw Scoble return to her home shortly before Rogers returned from his work. Scoble, on his return, ordered Rogers from the dwelling. The latter left without a word, Scoble stated.

Witness also testified that Scoble returned to his home shortly before Rogers returned from his work.

Scoble, on his return, ordered Rogers from the dwelling. The latter left without a word, Scoble stated.

BALL PLAYER KIDNAP YARN IS VERIFIED

J. Edgar Hoover, G-Man Chief, Verifies Plot Against Stars

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, verified the announcement of a radio commentator that kidnappers had planned to seize Dizzy Dean and Joe Dimaggio, baseball stars, for ransom.

Joe Dimaggio Is Surprised
New York, Jan. 25.—Joe Dimaggio, 25-year-old star outfielder for New York Yankees, said Monday he was as surprised as the rest of the baseball world to hear he had been marked for kidnapping.

Dimaggio, who is married to the actress Joan Crawford, said he was surprised to hear he was marked for kidnapping.

REJECT PLAN TO CHANGE CITY TAX RATE

Council Turns Down Low-Rate Plan For Late Working Men

Concurring in a recommendation of the city bylaw committee, city council Monday night rejected a proposed bylaw that would permit a reduction in the tax rate for late working men.

The proposal that exemptions be made in the case of late workers travelling to and from work at the Colours yards at times when trains were not running, was originally made by the C.N.R. James Cameron, Edmonton district.

Explained that before the taxmen bylaw was brought into effect workers could ride for 25 cents, but the minimum of three persons a trip. The bylaw, however, increased rates by an amount the men could not afford to pay.

URGENT EXEMPTION
At Monday's council meeting Ald. A. Bisset and Ald. Hugh J. MacDonald urged that exemptions to the bylaw be made for special cases such as the one mentioned.

Ald. P. C. Cowman, however, reminded council that persons might take advantage of this exemption to obtain free transportation. He also pointed out that the higher tax charged under the bylaw gave taxi drivers better wages.

A motion by Ald. J. H. Ogilvie that no change be made in the bylaw was carried. Ald. James Cameron Bisset and MacDonald objected.

During the discussion, a resolution passed on Jan. 1930, which provided that applications for exemption be referred to start up in business must be referred to council for a decision.

FASTING CLERIC IS GRUDDING IN TAKING REPAST

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 25.—Rev. Israel Harding now grudgingly returns to the "fasting" phase of his life, joining with doctors in their efforts to restore health to his ailing body, but only for the purpose of hastening his return to "normal" existence.

Conceding his fast had been broken, the clergyman, removed as Dean of St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral here, said he was "grudgingly" returning to the "fasting" phase of his life.
